Welcome to LEGO® Art

Vincent van Gogh (1853–1890) once wrote “For one must spoil as many canvases as one succeeds with.” * With these words of wisdom, when you explore your creative passion, you can let go of the pursuit of perfection for a moment and enjoy the process. When you create, whether you lean on legends or challenge convention, you are an artist.

* Vincent van Gogh to his brother Theo,
Saint-Rémy-de-Provence, 26 November 1889.

Building process

Imagine yourself as a painter in front of a blank canvas. Inspired by vibrant colours, you build your artwork by adding layers and layers of details until your LEGO® Art Vincent van Gogh – Sunflowers comes to life.

The painter of sunflowers

Born in 1853 in the Netherlands, Vincent van Gogh had plenty of ups and downs throughout his life, but he could always count on the support of his younger brother, Theo. By the time Vincent was 27, he had followed different career paths, from art dealer to schoolmaster, before Theo finally persuaded him to become an artist. With financial support from Theo, who recognised his unique point of view and techniques, Vincent immersed himself in his art. In just over a decade, Van Gogh produced more than 2,000 works of art – from pencil and charcoal sketches to oil paintings.

“Completely Vincent.”

(Paul Gauguin, about Sunflowers)

Yellow is a recurring colour in many of Van Gogh's paintings. His five Sunflowers paintings, some of his most celebrated works, were among his favourites. To Van Gogh, they convey a sense of gratitude. In the series, painted in Arles, France, between 1888 and 1889, he experimented with only three shades of yellow to express a full life cycle of the flowers and capture the contrasts between light and shade. The five Sunflowers paintings are now exhibited in separate museums worldwide; one of the most famous is in the Van Gogh Museum in Amsterdam as part of its permanent exhibition.

“The creative power can't be held back. what one feels must come out.”

– Vincent van Gogh to his brother Theo, The Hague, 3 June 1883

Vincent finally found a place at the Yellow House where he could paint and have his friends come to stay. His plan was to turn the yellow corner building into an artists' house, where like-minded painters could live and work together.

Preserving an icon

Only months after Vincent van Gogh's passing in 1890, Theo also passed away. Left behind with their baby son, Theo's wife, Jo van Gogh-Bonger, decided to pursue Theo's dream of promoting Vincent's art. She devoted her life to preserving and raising awareness of Van Gogh's work. Following in his mother's footsteps, the artist's nephew and namesake, engineer Vincent van Gogh, later established the Vincent van Gogh Foundation. Since 1962, this foundation has owned the core collection of the Van Gogh Museum. In the decades since it opened in 1973, the museum has researched and presented thousands of Van Gogh's artworks, letters and artefacts, inspiring a diverse, global audience through the artist's life and work. Research conducted by international specialists in 2019 even answered an intriguing question: the wooden slat at the top of the Sunflowers canvas was indeed added by Van Gogh himself, to extend the original composition.

Painting with bricks

LEGO® Art Vincent van Gogh – Sunflowers pays tribute to Vincent's iconic masterpiece housed in the Van Gogh Museum in Amsterdam. The museum's experts were instrumental in the development process, generously sharing their insights and helping us capture the artistic expression, spirit and gratitude Van Gogh intended. Mimicking Van Gogh's process, we included the characteristic horizontal 'wooden' slat to the canvas. The background is built like a patchwork of tiles that lets you retrace the artist's hatched brush strokes, including his 'Vincent' signature on the vase, and you can even adjust the flower petals to add depth to your artwork.

Enjoy building!

The LEGO Art Design Team

"For the great doesn't happen through impulse alone and is a succession of little things that are brought together."

– Vincent van Gogh to his brother Theo, The Hague, 22 October 1882
